A Special Exhibit This Week of Wayne-Knit Fashioned Hosiery

The Hosiery of Quality With a Comprehensive Guarantee

No one should buy Hosiery merely because they're "guaranteed to wear," because "wear" is the first and most easily obtained quality in hosiery. If you knit hose thick enough and coarse enough and wiry enough they'll wear almost everlastingly. A pair of hob-nail shoes will outwear many others.

The first essential, therefore, in hose is SHAPELI-NESS, and in the "WAYNE-KNIT" models the shapely contour of the foot, ankle and leg have been maintained with the most wonderful fidelity Witnesses to Beattie Execution Will Be Formally Summoned by Major Wood To-Day.

ALL OFFICERS RE-ELECTED YELLOWSTONE PARK CASE MANY SEEKING ADMISSION

Final Chapter in Virginia Murder Will Be Closed on Friday Morning.

Invitations to twelve "respectable itizens" to witness the electrocution of Henry Clay Beattle, Jr., between the hours of 7 and 7:30 o'clock on Friday morping, will be sent out to-day from the State Pentientlary. Their names will not be made public, according to the plan now contemplated by Super-intendent James B. Wood. Of course, if any witness sees fit to publish the fact that he was present when the sentence of the court was carried out, he is at liberty to do so.

The names of these twelve men will The names of these twelve men will be selected from among those who have applied for admission, so that those who state that they saw the inal tragedy will have previously sought permission to be witnesses. Major Wood has favored no personal friends, but has chosen men who he believes will be discreet in what they say regarding the electrocytics. garding the electrocution.

No Reporters Present.

As previously announced, no newspaper man will be invited. While in the past representatives of the local press have been "summoned," they have been saigled out as citizens, and not because they have been associated with newspapers. This rule has been followed during the incumbency of Major Wood, although it did not obtain previously, for reporters were admitted as such for some time after the electric chair at the State prison was substituted for the gallows in the county jails.

was substituted for the gallows in the county jalls.
During the past year or two the applications have been in most insunces insufficient to fill the requisite number, and it has been found necessary to send out invitations, or technically "summonses." In view of this difficulty, which frequently arose, the last General Assembly, at Major Wood's request, reduced the minimum of witnesses from twelve to six, the maximum remaining at a dozen.

min. Dennis, the Episcopal minister, who took him the final news of the Governor's refusal to interfere with the sentence of the court, calls on Beattle at least once every day in his cell, and on most days he sees him two or three times. Rev. J. Fix. of Porter Street Preabyterian Church, the home congregation of II. C. Beattle, Sr., calls less frequently, his visits, not averaging as many as one each day.

Members of the prisoner's immediate family see him every day. They went to the pentientiary yesterday after noon, remaining for some time. His attorneys have conversed with him at times since the final judgment was rendered and since all hope fled.

Prisoner Remains Well.

Beattle's appetite is good, and no change has been noted in his physical condition. He reads the daily papers, spends a good deal of time with his lible, and has two or three magazines in his cell, which he has read carefully. Such privileges as these are given him without question, follow-

The Better Part OR What One Man Did

Richmond, Va., November 18, 1911.

"American National Bank,

Gentlemen:

I take the liberty of writing you and saying that I believe you are doing a good work through your advertisements in urging upon people of small incomes the importance of getting the saving habit. I know from experience. As a young man, earning fourteen dollars a week, with a widowed mother to support, I managed to save up three hundred dollars-almost a nickel at a time. When an occasion arose that I had either to surrender my position or my self-respect, this little money that I had saved enabled me to choose "the better part," and furnished the capital on which I began business.

1 write you this simply to encourage you and saythat I believe you are doing a real service in this community."
